2022 Annual Report

Summary of 2022 achievements

The focal point of 2022 revolved around identifying and capitalizing on collaborative opportunities, as underscored by the rigorous strategic discovery process, which was conducted in conjunction with national EWBs. This effort culminated in the comprehensive insights documented in the 'Ahead Together' report. At a strategic level, in February 2022, the Board of Directors engaged in a three-day virtual workshop to develop the organisational strategy, aligning mission with global action.

Throughout 2022, EWB International accomplished a milestone by securing its inaugural multi-year strategic partnership with Bentley Systems. This collaboration is poised to significantly enhance EWB International's capability to foster increased collaboration and cooperation within the broader movement.

After joining the EWB International team as Executive Director in October 2021, Katie Cresswell-Maynard gained volunteer support for membership, continuing to strengthen the organisation's capacity to galvanise the global movement.

In March 2022, EWB International was invited to partner on the WFEO World Engineering Day for Sustainable Development Hackathon. This event, offered to students worldwide, provides a high-paced simulation mirroring real-world projects, where teams collaboratively address complex problems in a given timeline. Support for this event secured EWB International to successfully cement its involvement in the 2023 World Engineering Day activities.
